

Subway

written by Anastasia Suen

we go down
to go uptown
down, down, down
in the subway

tickets in turnstiles spin
walk, walk, walk
to the subway

a rush of air
a car is there
hop, hop, hop
on the subway

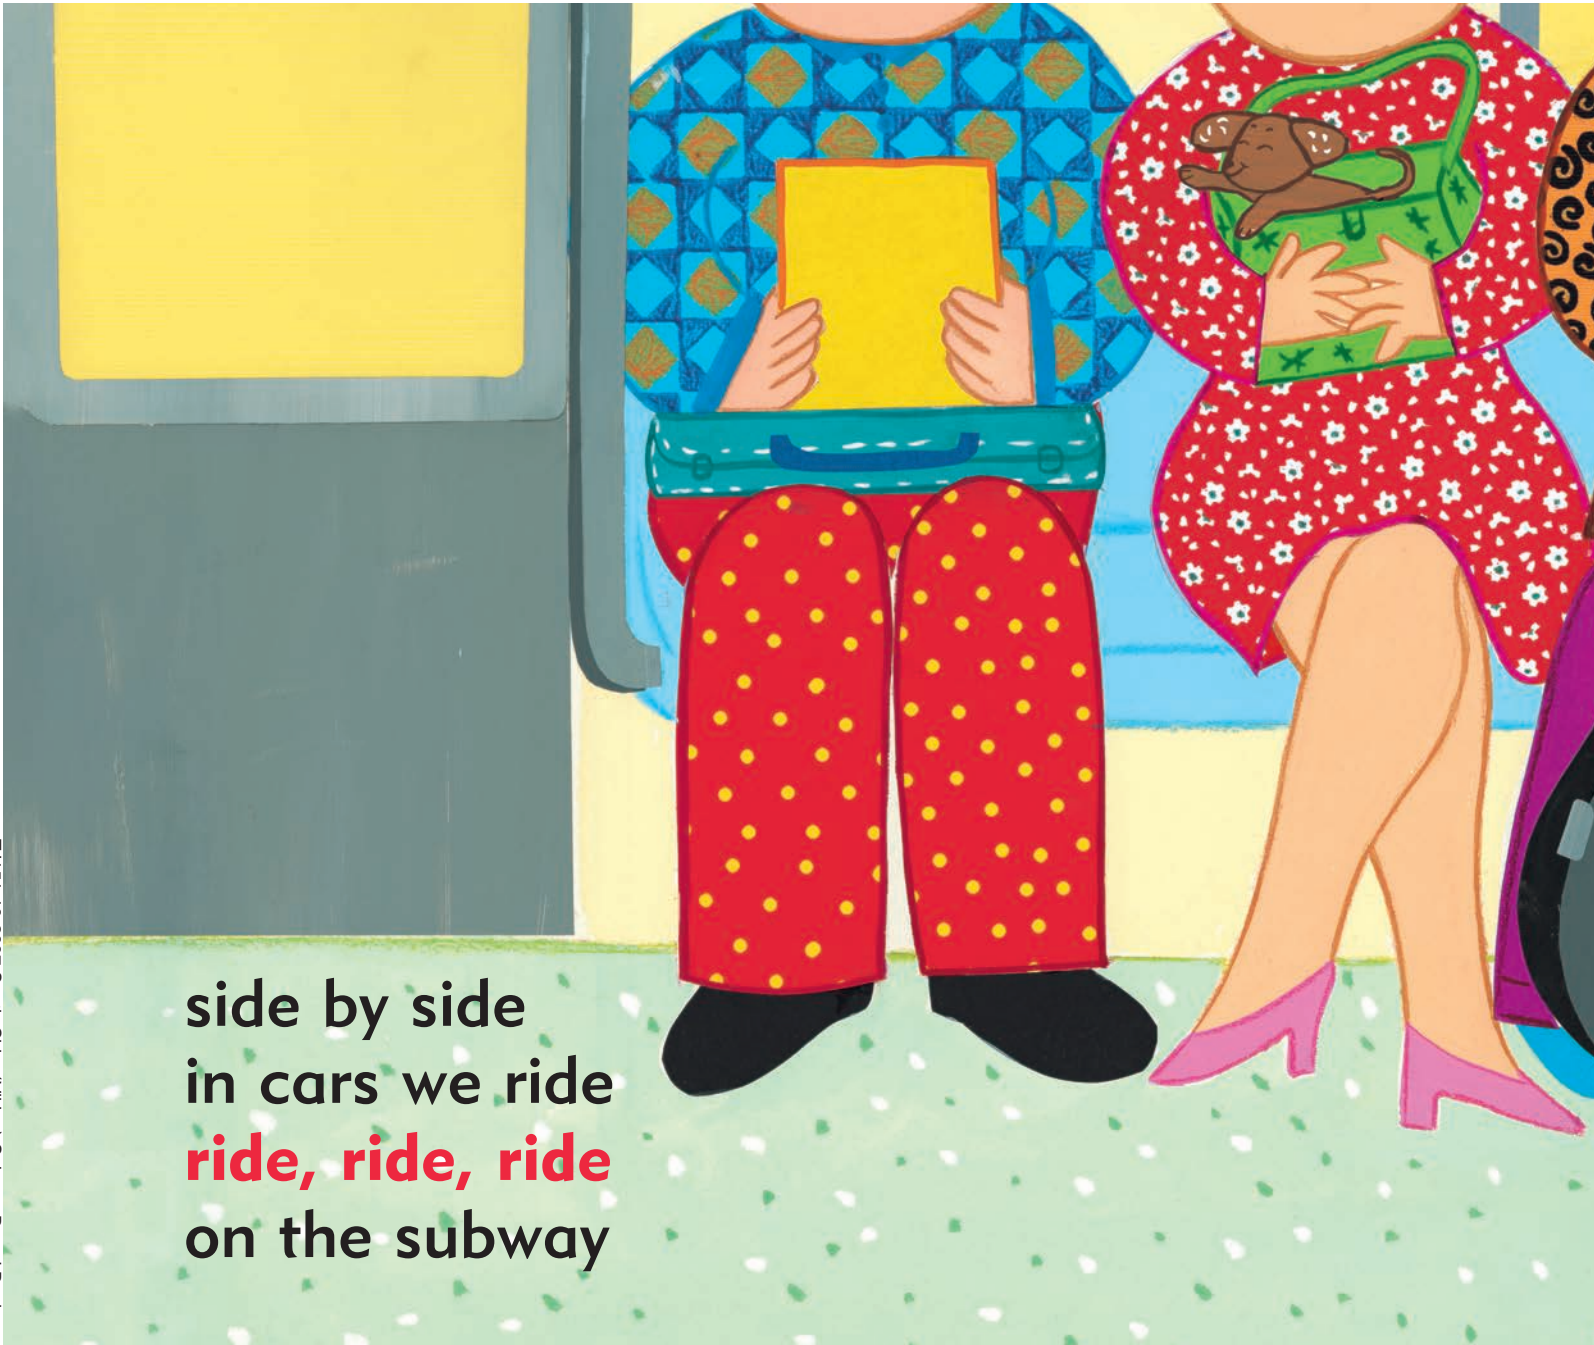

away we go
fast, not slow
go, go, go
on the subway

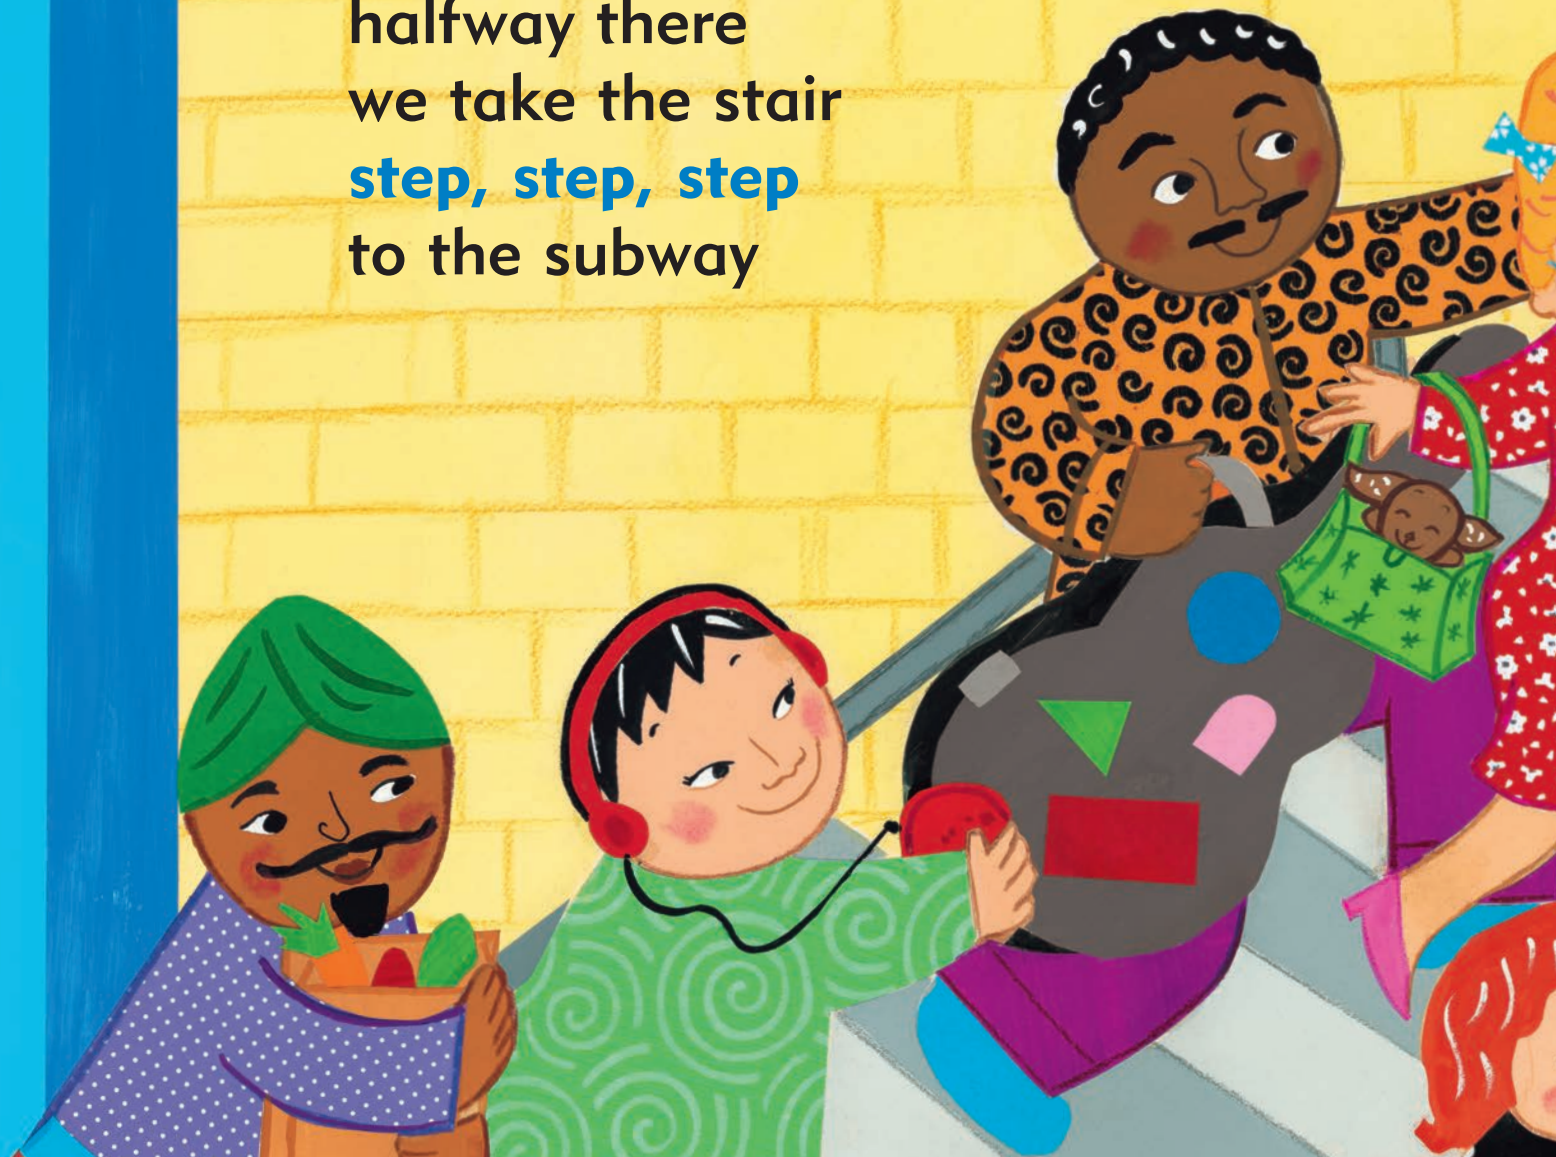

An illustration of two people standing side-by-side on a subway train. The person on the left is wearing a blue and gold diamond-patterned sweater, a teal belt, and red pants with yellow polka dots. They are holding a large yellow rectangular object. The person on the right is wearing a red dress with white floral patterns and pink high-heeled shoes. They are holding a green bag with a brown dog inside. The background shows a grey subway car and a green speckled floor.

side by side
in cars we ride
ride, ride, ride
on the subway

halfway there
we take the stair
step, step, step
to the subway

left or right
dark as night

night, night, night
in the subway

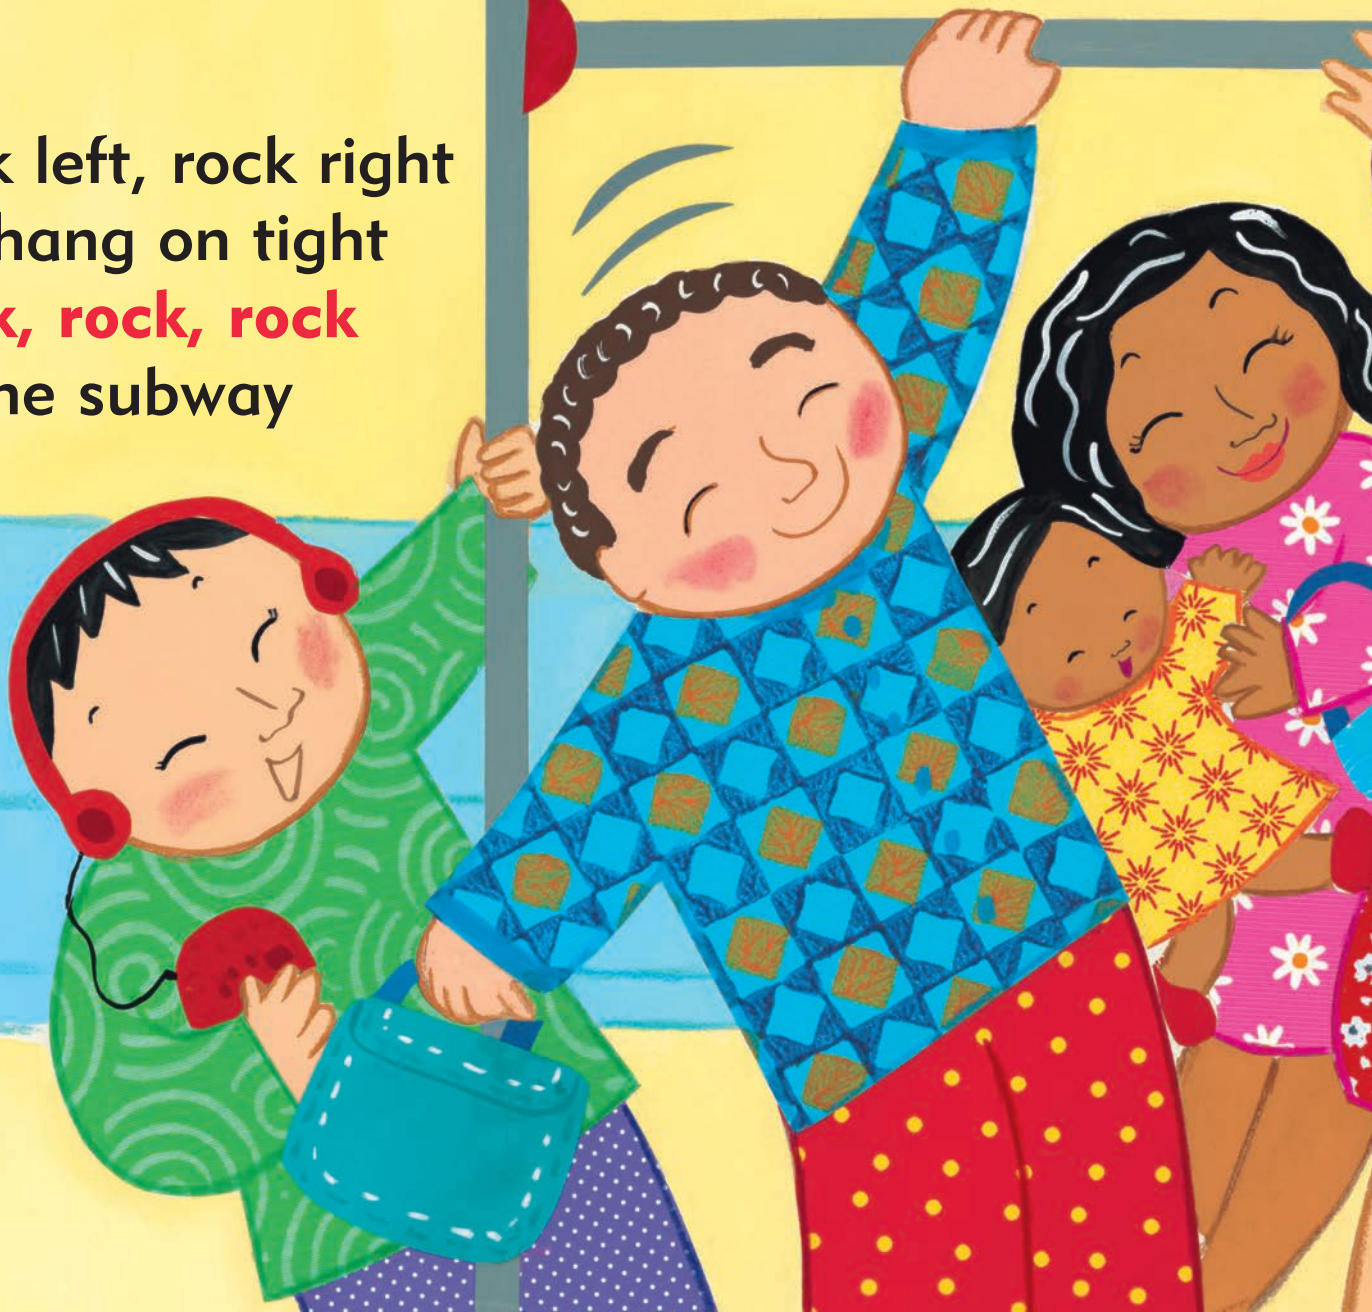

open the door
to let in more
more, more, more

rock left, rock right
we hang on tight
rock, rock, rock
in the subway

lights flicker flash
as we hurry past
flash, flash, flash
in the subway

Exit

screech and pop
here's our stop
bye, bye, bye
subway!
